Celebrate the power of art at a three-part lecture series titled "Artist Speak" with prominent local artists Mary Jane Begin, an award-winning illustrator and author of children's picture books; Paula Most, a coordinator of the arts for Lifespan hospitals; and Steve Brosnihan, a freelance cartoonist and author.

The lecture series promotes Barrington's first annual Bring On Art Festival on Sunday, June 14. The festival will include over 30 artist tents with painters, printmakers, jewelry designers, sculptors, ceramic artists, glass artists, photographers, textile designers, and mixed media artists along with live music, food trucks, children's activities, and ample parking. The festival opens at 10 am and ends at 5 pm.

Free and open to all.

Lecture series is sponsored by a partnership between the Barrington Recreation Department and the Library.
